

Onsite Counselling

Help your people improve their mental wellbeing without leaving

Every business has busy periods. Whether it's due to a seasonal rush or an industry trend, every company will experience its peak times. Keeping your workforce healthy and motivated in these intensive periods can be difficult, but we can help.

Our Onsite Counselling solution provides employees with in-person, short term counselling in the convenience of their workplace.

You demonstrate your commitment to your employee's health and wellbeing and your people get the mental health support they need, when they need it.

Why Onsite Counselling is the solution you need:

- Alleviate employee stress by making access to master's trained counsellors easy.
- Save your people valuable time by eliminating the need to travel to offsite appointments.
- Curate the solution that works for you; we work with you to determine your contract terms, duration, frequency and counsellor preference.
- Onboard with ease; we give you the tools you need to introduce Onsite Counselling to your people.
- Offer a distinct benefit that will help you attract and retain top employees.
- Demonstrate the value of your investment through customer reporting.

Let us help take care of your people
